Catalog Description

Objectives and functional elements of records systems, archival programs, management information systems and techniques within various types of organizations. Management of information internal to organizations.

STUDENT OUTCOMES:
Students who complete this course will be capable of demonstrating awareness, knowledge, and/or understanding of the following MSIS Program Outcomes:

- Describe and discuss the processes of creation, organization, distribution, storage, access, retrieval, management, use, and preservation of information. (1)
- Describe and discuss the nature of leadership and management in the information professions and the importance of participation in the global information society. (2)
- Apply the general principles, values, and ethical standards of providing information services in a variety of settings and for diverse populations. (3)
- Comply with the changing responsibilities of the information professional in a culturally diverse and networked global society. (4)
- Identify critical professional issues in a variety of organizational, cultural, societal, disciplinary, transdisciplinary, and historical contexts. (5)
- Analyze and apply standards or policies related to the processes of creation, organization, distribution, storage, access, retrieval, management, use or preservation of information. (6)
- Explain the changing nature of information, information needs, and information behavior. (7)
• Assess and implement information technologies, systems, sources and services that serve users effectively and efficiently. (8)
• Analyze research and apply it to information practice. (9)

General Description

INSC 564 is a survey course, covering the history, theory, methodology, and practice of archival studies, including: fundamentals of acquisition and appraisal; evaluation and value; arrangement and description, preservation, reference and access, outreach and advocacy, and standards, tools and technologies. The course is designed to be reflective of the current state of archives, exploring such issues as the differences between the "archives" of a blog and a traditional archival repository, the archives' role in the lives of people who may never enter an archives reading room, and the role of cultural institutions in the keeping of memory and in social justice. We will look at the relationships between the archives and records management fields, and discuss how archival and records management practice fit into the larger world of information management. No previous archival or history education or experience is necessary. This course is designed for students with an interest in archival professions, as well as students interested in simply learning more about archival concepts, principles, theory and practice as these intersect with several other subdomains within the information science landscape.

Required Reading

There is no required textbook for this course. All required readings are available through the UT Library system.

Communication

I am required to communicate with you through your UTK email address. If you prefer to use another address, consult the OIT Helpdesk to obtain directions for forwarding your UTK mail to your preferred address if you don’t wish to check both accounts.

Computing Requirements

You must have adequate computing skills, including but not limited to use of word processing, Web browsers, e-mail, listservs, Canvas, and Zoom software. You must learn how to submit your assignments using Canvas. The Office of Information Technology (OIT) provides training classes in using varied technologies for students at no charge (advance registration is required).

You must obtain a UT email account and subscribe to the SIS student listserv. In addition, you must have the PowerPoint Reader or the regular PowerPoint software installed on your computer in order to download the lecture notes from Canvas.

CLASS ATTENDANCE POLICY

It is assumed that each student be present and speak in class -- the equivalent of a "B" grade for "participation." Missing more classes or failing to participate could lower your grade.

Regular attendance is required. A portion of your grade will be based on in-class work and participation. Unexplained absences will affect your grade. Contact me as soon as possible if you cannot attend class. If you will be absent from class, you must:

- Inform me in advance or as soon as possible after class
- Submit any work due from the missed class period
- Listen to class recording
- Obtain notes, handouts, etc. from Canvas
- Check with classmates for notes, announcements, etc.

Acceptable reasons for absence from class include:
- Illness
- Serious family emergencies,
- Special curricular or job requirements (e.g., judging trips, field trips, professional conferences),
- Military obligation,
- Severe weather conditions,
- Religious holidays
- Participation in official university activities such as music performances, athletic competition or debate
- Obligations for court imposed legal obligations (i.e., jury duty, subpoena)

Missing more than one class meeting for reasons other than those listed above could have a negative impact on your course participation grade.
INCLEMENT WEATHER

“The chancellor (or appointed representative) may officially close or suspend selected activities of the university because of extreme weather conditions. When a decision to close is made, information is distributed to the campus community, shared with local media, and posted on the front page at http://utk.edu. (Hilltopics, p. 55). SIS will cancel classes when UT is closed. Please check the SIS student listserv (UTKSIS-L@LISTSERV.UTK.EDU) for messages about closing.

ACCOMMODATIONS FOR STUDENTS WITH DISABILITIES

Students who may need course adaptations because of a disability are welcome to make an appointment to speak with me. Students with disabilities must register with the Student Disability Services, 2227 Dunford Hall, Knoxville, TN 37996-4020, before accommodations can be made. If you require course accommodations but have not contacted Student Disability Services, please call (865) 974-6087 or email sds@utk.edu to inquire about the registration procedure.

CIVILITY

Civility is genuine respect and regard for others: politeness, consideration, tact, good manners, graciousness, cordiality, affability, amiability and courteousness. Civility enhances academic freedom and integrity, and is a prerequisite to the free exchange of ideas and knowledge in the learning community. Our community consists of students, faculty, staff, alumni, and campus visitors. Community members affect each other’s well-being and have a shared interest in creating and sustaining an environment where all community members and their points of view are valued and respected. Affirming the value of each member of the university community, the campus asks that all its members adhere to the principles of civility and community adopted by the campus: http://civility.utk.edu/.

CCI DIVERSITY STATEMENT

The College of Communication and Information recognizes that a college diverse in its people, curricula, scholarship, research, and creative activities expands opportunities for intellectual inquiry and engagement, helps students develop critical thinking skills, and prepares students for social and civic responsibilities. All members of the College benefit from diversity and the quality of learning, research, scholarship and creative activities is enhanced by a climate of inclusion, understanding and appreciation of differences and the full range of human experience. As a result, the College is committed to diversity and equal opportunity and it recognizes that it must represent the diversity inherent in American society. The College is acutely aware that diversity and fairness are foundations that unite the College’s faculty, staff, students, and the larger communication and information community.

INSTRUCTOR STATUS AS A TITLE IX MANDATORY REPORTER

University of Tennessee faculty are committed to supporting our students and upholding gender equity laws as outlined by Title IX. Please be aware that if you choose to confide in a faculty member regarding an issue of sexual misconduct, dating violence, or stalking, we are obligated to inform the University's Title IX Coordinator, who can assist you in connecting with all possible resources both on- and off-campus. If you would like to speak with someone confidentially, the Student Counseling Center (865-974-2196) and the Student Health Center (865-974-3135) are both confidential resources.

For additional resources and information, visit titleix.utk.edu.

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY

Students should be familiar and maintain their Academic Integrity described in the Academics | Hilltopics Student Handbook as: “Study, preparation, and presentation should involve at all times the student’s own work, unless it has been clearly specified that work is to be a team effort. Academic honesty requires that the student present their own work in all academic projects, including tests, papers, homework, and class presentation. When incorporating the work of other scholars and writers into a project, the student must accurately cite the source of that work.”

Students should abide by the Honor Statement described in the same Hilltopics:

> “An essential feature of the University of Tennessee, Knoxville, is a commitment to maintaining an atmosphere of intellectual integrity and academic honesty. As such the University utilizes an Honor Statement that reads, “As a student of the university, I pledge that I will neither knowingly give nor receive any inappropriate assistance in academic work, thus affirming my own personal commitment to honor and integrity.”
PLAGIARISM

Plagiarism in any of its several forms is intolerable, and attention to matters of documentation in all written work is expected and required. Inadverrence, alleged lack of understanding, or avowed ignorance of the various types of plagiarism are not acceptable excuses.

Specific examples of plagiarism are:

1. Copying without proper documentation (quotation marks and a citation) written or spoken words, phrases, or sentences from any source;

2. Summarizing without proper documentation (usually a citation) ideas from another source (unless such information is recognized as common knowledge);

3. Borrowing facts, statistics, graphs, pictorial representations, or phrases without acknowledging the source (unless such information is recognized as common knowledge);

4. Collaborating on a graded assignment without the instructor’s approval;

5. Submitting work, either in whole or in part, created by a professional service and used without attribution (e.g., paper, speech, bibliography, or photograph).

Students who may be unsure of the nature of plagiarism should consult the instructor or a guide for writing research reports. (Additional resources are available through the Academic Dishonesty page of the Student Code of Conduct.)

Infractions of academic integrity are penalized according to the severity of the infraction but may include a course grade of "F."

Assignments and Grading

Grading is based on the four assignments listed below, plus a participation grade (also discussed below). The assignments will be discussed in greater detail during class sessions.

1. Archives in the News. 20%
Students will present a news article that demonstrates the importance and relevance of archives. Such stories can range from an archival collection being used in a news feature; a new document being “discovered” in an archival collection; a new archive being established; or an issue such as how access to public records is requested, restricted or disputed. Students can find such news items in any kind of media, provided a link to the item can be found online. Students will need to post a link to the story to the Canvas site, along with a 300 – 500 word analysis. This analysis will identify how archival practice is demonstrated within the story, and how that work is understood by non-archivists. It should contextualize this archival work such that someone unfamiliar with archival practice can better understand why archivists do what they do. Target outcome: Identify critical professional issues in a variety of organizational, cultural, societal, disciplinary, transdisciplinary, and historical contexts. (5) Due February 21.

2. Skills Evaluation. 20%
To prepare for a career in Information Science, you will evaluate your skills and experience and develop an action plan to acquire what skills and experience you currently lack. First, you will select three mid- or upper-level archives or records management jobs you find interesting, and itemize the skills and experience you would need to compete for them. You will divide these skills into those you confidently possess, and those you do not. For the skills you do not possess, you will identify resources that will help you gain those skills. (Resources could include SIS or UT classes, online free or fee-based web tutorials, internships, or part-time jobs, as examples.) Finally, you will give a brief analysis of how these jobs relate to the concept of leadership in the profession; in what ways would these jobs make one a “leader,” and what does that mean for you as you grow in your career? Target outcome: Describe and discuss the nature of leadership and management in the information professions and the importance of participation in the global information society. (2) Due March 21.

3. Appraisal of the Records of Bancroft Camp 16, United Spanish War Veterans. 20%
You will be expected to write an appraisal report recommending which portions of a “new accession” should be preserved and which should be destroyed. This exercise will use a sample of an existing collection: the Records of Bancroft Camp 16. The Bancroft Camp 16 was a Wisconsin military encampment during the Spanish-American War, and their collection is housed at the Wisconsin Historical Society. I will provide you with a template for the appraisal report. In class we will discuss this assignment and the practice of evaluating and organizing archival records. Target outcome: Describe and discuss the processes of creation, organization, distribution, storage, access, retrieval, management, use, and preservation of information. (1) Due April 11.

4. Archives Poster. 20%
What do archival records mean for the larger community? How are they used, and how are they useful? You will create an informational poster that addresses one aspect of these questions, drawing from what we have discussed in class. Your goal is to inform an audience of either non-professionals or entry-level information specialists. Please be mindful of good design principles and create a concise and informative poster. Target outcome: Explain the changing nature of information, information needs, and information behavior. (7) Due May 2.

5. Participation 20%
As our meetings will be conducted online, the participation of all students is vital. We will engage in some in-class exercises, as well as open discussions on the topics in class. I will also post 4 discussion board questions during the semester, and when I do I will ask all students to contribute to the discussions. Students are expected to attend class; at the discretion of this instructor, missing more than two classes (without approval) may result in a lower grade.

DUE DATES AND LATE ASSIGNMENTS
Assignments should be submitted to the “assignments” area of Canvas and are due (officially) at 11:59 p.m. EST on the due date listed on the syllabus. If your assignment is not ready by the deadline…

- You must send me an email informing me that your assignment will be late.
- When it’s ready, you must submit it to me via Canvas.

INCOMPLETES
Based on adopted University of Tennessee-Knoxville and SIS policy, a grade of I (Incomplete) is reserved for emergencies that prevent the student from completing the course on time. Incompletes are granted only under "the most unusual of circumstances" and solely at the discretion of the instructor. Plan your semester’s course of study carefully to ensure sufficient time to complete the required work.

For students who simply "disappear" without contacting the instructor and without completing the required form, an "F" is submitted.

ASSIGNING GRADES
Please note that I do not assign letter grades for individual assignments, but will mark your paper with my comments and provide a point score based on the possible points earned for that assignment. If you’d like to compute a letter grade based on the score provided, divide your score by the total points possible for the assignment and refer to the scale on pp. 5-6 of the syllabus for the corresponding letter grade. For example, if you earned 23/25 points on an assignment, your percentage grade would be 92. Your final grade will be based on total points earned/total possible points over the course of the semester.

EVALUATION
Semester grades will be assigned according to the following scale:

COURSE EVALUATION
You will be invited to evaluate the course at the end of the term. Please participate in this valuable process. I also invite your comments throughout the course and read all comments, suggestions, and recommendations.

DISCLAIMER

Please be aware revisions may be made to this syllabus over the course of the semester, and as such, the content contained within may be subject to change.
